

HOGUSTA

By: Deurtee Diapers

Hello, friends, and welcome. Welcome to our farm Hogusta is its name, and tradition is its charm
The Pastures at Hogusta - the best week of the year But who will be its Masters is yet to become clear

With green, green rolling fairways and birds chirping in the air Who'll end with the green jacket, which they'll forever wear

The are so many to choose from, like Farmer Scott who won last year By driving 'round the course in a green tractor John Deere

Or the horses for the course, friends Jordan and JT One's already crowned with roses, but not the pony from 'tucky

Now speaking of flowers, there is Justin in a row Of Azalias and Magnolias, but none compare to Rose Who serves the Queen of England and will always bend the knee Just like Matsu-llama and his bowing caddie

Heading to the chicken coop, where Rickie Fowl-er likes to play Will he serve breakfast for champions or lay another egg?

Oh wait, he isn't scheduled to play on this date
So he'll have to find his friends instead to celebrate

Francesco knows all about cracking by the brook Quack! Quack! He cried and cried again when his ball took a duck hook

A hook is what is also used by a pirate for a hand And those who chose to fly away to Never Never Land

Like Cameron the donkey with his long and snarly hair Some might call him another name for a donkey that they share Or Patrick Feed, the big fat pig, who throws Ts when he walks off More, more, more! He's very greedy, like pigs feeding at the trough

Min Moo Lee feeds from a trough but in a different way It's black and white, the difference of the spots he picks to play All sheep in the Pastures follow the leader Jon the Ram Who prays for wins with Hail Mary, who had a little lamb

There's Patrick Catlay, the barn cat, and a golf ball made of yarn He's on the hunt for birdies at the Pastures by the barn
The golden good boy, Rory, comes racing from behind But does he have that dog in him? The question on our minds

Last of all there's Tiger, the Pastures' reigning GOAT Whose last win at Hogusta the best story ever wrote!

Now let's all watch the magic, while Dad sleeps on the couch Making memories with family is what this week is all about!

